SUMMARY

A dedicated Information Technology and Management student, skilled in both server-side and front-end web development. I have completed multiple certifications, including Python, C programming, and various web development courses. With hands-on experience in technologies like Java, React, and Express.js, I am passionate about developing projects using the MERN stack. I also have a solid foundation in key web technologies such as HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and PHP, alongside a proactive attitude toward learning and growth.
